

Research/Professional Learning Project - Online Religious Education Assessment

*Well, we know where we're goin'
But we don't know where we've been
And we know what we're knowin'
But we can't say what we've seen*

*We're on a ride to nowhere
Come on inside
Takin' that ride to nowhere
We'll take that ride*

from Road To Nowhere (Talking Heads - David Byrne)

Taking our first steps – the third in a series of articles outlining our research/learning project

In the conclusion to the second article (24/03/15) outlining our research/learning project we noted that in “addition to the all-important task of generating further questions, our next major target is to trial the on online RE assessment process with Year 4 students throughout the Diocese.”

(1) Next step in exploring the concept ... Mike's been thinking and playing!

Not having taught Year 4 students, Mike could not resist the temptation to see how Year 4 students might go tackling a few online multiple choice questions before the trial of the online RE assessment process!

His curiosity resulted in him creating 7 multiple choice questions on the Google forms platform.

Mike's “play” questions are found in Appendix A (page 4).

Mike contacted three schools to see if they would assist and then sent an invitation to some of their Year 4 students, using a link to Google forms. The Year 4 students were from Our Lady of the Assumption School (Hoon Hay), Sacred Heart School (Addington) and St Joseph's School (Rangiora).

These Year 4 students were very generous in helping Mike see if his wee Google trial questions were able to be understood and to see if Year 4 students were “cool” with tackling multiple choice questions.

From the summary of responses information in Appendix B (page 6) and its attendant detailed spreadsheet data in Appendix C (page 9) one can clearly see that the 47 generous Year 4 students who participated in Mike's pre-practice practise took multiple choice questions in their stride 😊 ... this is good information for our upcoming research project 😊

Clearly Mike has no firm idea if his wee trial 7 questions were either ...

1. valid - how accurate each of these multi-choice questions is at measuring what it is trying to measure; or
2. reliable - the degree to which these multi-choice questions produce consistent results

... we would need a much larger sample to confirm this.

For example, Mike reckons he could make an argument for (a) or (c) in his Question 7!!! ... so it probably wasn't a particularly valid question!

But Mike suspects we have shown that the types of multi-choice questions the DRS writing parties have produced (some 200+ questions) will not be beyond most year 4 students ☺ ... this too is good information for our upcoming research project ☺

Mike also believes we have shown that this simple Google platform may be of assistance to any school wishing to help their Year 4 students "have a go" at answering multi-choice questions before the upcoming research project in September (with its powerful analytics).

Remember, the main purpose for this first year of our research project will be to get a statistical handle on the validity and reliability of the first draft 200+ questions the DRS writing parties have produced.

(2) Want to "have a go"? ... a pre-trial possibility!

With the above in mind, Cushla will work with the DRSs from Hoon Hay, Addington and Rangiora to produce (say) 14 sample multi-choice questions across the strands that we could offer to schools as practice in answering multi-choice questions digitally (using the simple Google platform).

We will generate these practice sample questions after the Catholic Convention in June 2015.

If you would like your Year 4 students to "have a go" at answering 10 -14 sample/parallel multiple choice questions email Mike (mnolan@chch.catholic.org.nz) and we will email you the link to the 10 – 14 sample questions we will soon generate and you can pass this on to each of your Year 4 students ... they just need a Gmail account (or have access to a Gmail account) to complete the questions.

(2) Where to from here?

Key dates:

Our initial online RE assessment trial will take place on Tuesday 15 September 2015.

We will conduct a quick practice/sample test (just a few questions) on Tuesday 8 September 2015 – this is to provide us with an initial shot at the process in order to discover all the technical "problems" that might arise when we conduct the online assessment for all Year 4 students simultaneously throughout the Diocese

We also have a reserve day (Thursday 17 September 2015) for any school that had a major problem on Tuesday 15 September, e.g. for a school where there was an area-wide electrical fault on Tuesday 15 September 2105.

Our initial trial of the online assessment for Year 4 students simultaneously throughout the Diocese will provide us with our first opportunity to test the integrity, reliability and validity of the initial set of questions we have developed.

Our initial 2015 trial will give us our first glimpse of being in a position to better know where we've been and to have an initial foretaste of being in a data-based position to say what we've seen.

The purpose of our initial 2015 trial is two-fold:

1. To discover all the technical "problems" that might arise when we conduct the online assessment for all Year 4 students simultaneously throughout the Diocese.
2. To provide us with an opportunity to test the integrity, reliability and validity of the initial set of questions we have developed.

So our initial trial will be as much about the technicalities of the process as it will be about having our first glimpse of being in a position to better know where we've been and to have an initial foretaste of being in a data-based position to say what we've seen.

Ultimately, when this process has matured in a number of years, we, as individual schools and as clusters of Catholic schools, aim to be in a position to use the assessment data the project will (hopefully) provide to

- more accurately describe and know what we're known';
- reflect upon how we might better plan for systemic as well as individually targeted professional development and RE learning support for teachers;
- reflect upon individual and school-wide teaching practices that might further improve RE learning outcomes for our students.

We continue to look forward to our journey; a journey that Dr Seuss probably best describes:

*"So ... be your name Buxbaum or Bixby or Bray or Mordecai Ali Van Allen O'Shea, you're off to Great Places!
Today is your day!
Your mountain is waiting.
So ... get on your way!"*

We've reached basecamp and continue to make preparations to ascend our research/learning mountain.

We will let you know the places we end up as we continue our adventurous ascent.
